Washington D C

CHRISTMAS EVE FOR ALL. As I write this message shortly before leaving Washington to come home to the warmth and friendship of South Texas, I want to extend a personal best wish to all my friends, neighbors and constituents in the 15th Congressional District for a wonderful Christmas Day with your families. It has been a busy month in the Capitol, and I suppose even a glance at newspapers would tell you that! It's good to be going home.

For weeks visitors to our Washington office (and many passers-by) have been treated to a real sight! The front door of the office has a felt-stuffed Christmas tree hanging on it, and it is decorated with unusual light bulbs in the shape of red and green chilis! Among the visitors from home to see it was Dr Mario Ramirez of Rio Grande City who was in Washington with his wife for the annual meeting of the AMA. So everyone in South Texas can get a glimpse of this decorating wonder of the hallways--I reproduce it below for all to see.
